

False

In the table, the angles have been calculated by dividing 360° by each of the frequencies.

360° should be divided by the total frequency to find the angle that represents one student before multiplying by each frequency in turn.