

False

If each of the line segments were extended then they would meet eventually. If the lines were parallel, hatch marks would also be included on the diagram.