

The product of two positive integers cannot be prime.